HOUSE KILLS TEACHING OF CONSTITUTION

Madison.—The Matheson bill, requiring the teaching of United States constitution in all public and private schools above the eighth grade, was killed by the assembly Monday without a record vote.

Strong opposition to the bill had been voiced by Catholic school authorities.

Efforts to give Wisconsin schools free text books again met defeat Monday, the assembly voting, 22 to 21, to kill the Johnson bill.

In advocating his bill on the floor, Assemblyman Matheson declared there are many who do not know anything of the constitution except the 15th amendment.

"This condition," he said, "is deplorable and should be remedied by giving the proper instruction in our schools. He advocated it as a patriotic, 100 percent American measure."

Assemblyman E. H. Johnson of Burnett county said he could "see no need for such a bill and added that it would work a hardship on some schools which have used the same curriculum for years and could not adapt themselves to the change."

It also was said the writer would disclose his identity after the body was found, but as to the other details, counsel for the Mount family refused to talk.

BAD CHECKS CAUSE SLUMP ON EXCHANGE

(By Associated Press.)
New York.—Prices on the New York stock exchange were sent tumbling Monday by the reaction from heavy buying started on a flood of orders which, it was disclosed, were backed by worthless checks, drawn on several Pennsylvania banks. More than a score of worthless checks were received by Wall Street houses over the week end.

One of the checks was for $15,000, drawn on the Keystone National bank of Reading, Pa., to cover buying orders in Westinghouse, Reading and American Car and Foundry. Others accompanied orders to buy New York Central stock.

Reports from Philadelphia and Boston said brokers in those cities had received similar bogus orders. The checks in almost every case were for $500. In some cases, they were for $1,000, which tricked some of the brokers into accepting buying orders for large blocks of stock. Selling operations started when the fraud was discovered, practically the entire list being carried to new low levels.

(By Associated Press.)
Madison.—The fate of all tax legislation before the present session hangs in the balance in the senate, where the change of a vote or two marks the difference between success or defeat of proposed new revenue laws.

Of the three general income tax bills now pending, the one drafted and sponsored by Governor Blaine appears to have the least chance of success in its present form, members assert. This situation exists, according to members of the finance committee, in spite of the threat of the governor that he intends to veto revenue appropriations unless the bill is accepted.

GERMANY IS TOLD REPARATIONS MUST BE PAID IN FULL

NO PARLEY SO LONG AS RESISTANCE LASTS, ULTIMATUM.
OFFER IS SCORNE
Amount Is Less Than One-Fourth of Recognized Debt, Allies' Answer.

(By Associated Press.)
Paris.—France and Belgium have again served notice on Germany that they intend the reparations bill shall be paid in full and that there will be no consideration of any German proposal as long as passive resistance in the Ruhr continues to be the Reich's watchword.

Replying in a joint note to the German offer of last week, the Ruhr allies point out that the sum of 30,000,000 gold marks represents less than one-fourth of the total which both the reparations commission and Germany recognized as the amount of her debt. France and Belgium advance no proposals of their own, reserving their reply to a categorical rejection of the German terms.

"Badly Veiled Revolt"

Chemist's Test Delayed Few Days—McGovern Appears for Hanson.
Scheduled to come up in municipal court here, Monday, the examinations of Irving Hanson, Milwaukee, and Dick Maas, Janesville, held on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Oscar Williams after a girl party here last week, were continued for several days.

Adjournment was recommended by District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie, pending a report on an analysis to be made of the contents of Wilson's stomach, which, if developed, Monday, will require several days more. Prof. Erasmus G. Smith, head of the Beloit college chemistry department, who was to have made the test, has been taken ill and is in a Beloit hospital, County Coroner Lynn A. Whaley learned, Monday. With Prof. Smith unable to proceed with the analysis, Mr. Whaley announced he would take the specimen from Beloit to the state chemist at Madison from whom he expects a report by the end of this week.

McGovern, Hanson, Attorney.
Francis R. McGovern, Milwaukee, former governor of Wisconsin, has been engaged as Hanson's attorney while George Blanchard, Edgerton, represents Hanson. McGovern said the cases were to be held open, Mr. McGovern did not appear in court, Monday, but Mr. Blanchard and the two defendants were present.

Hanson and Maas on their party last night was "drug store gin" testing between 30 and 40 percent alcohol. District Attorney Dunwiddie said, Sunday night, the test was made at Beloit.

May Chance Charge
Declaring there is practically no chance of convicting Hanson and Maas on a manslaughter charge, District Attorney Dunwiddie intimated, Monday, that a lesser charge might be brought.

"The law does not prescribe any duties that the boys should have performed, besides there is a question as to when Wilson died—it might have been when he fell on the bridge," said Mr. Dunwiddie, "if I find no similar case on record, although there is one where a man left his wife while she was intoxicated and she fell from a bridge, the man was liable to manslaughter for he had a duty to perform to his wife. A man would likewise be responsible for his children, but there is nothing to cover this case."

"There is nothing to require one to go to the rescue of a drowning man. He would be subject only to the contempt of the community for not doing so."

Hanson and Maas tried to find a place at the Chevrolet for Wilson to sleep Wednesday night, because Wilson had told them at the beginning of the party "if I get drunk, for God's sake don't take me home," it was learned, Monday.

Denial of the report that he was offered a drink by Wilson on the night of the party has been entered by Patrolman August Serstad.

"I feel I have been accused of great injustice by the story," declared Mr. Serstad. "I have tried to be on the square during my service of 15 years, but I am in police work, and I regret that such an accusation has been made. I saw Wilson only once on the night in question and that was shortly after 8 o'clock when he had been on South Main street and asked me when a street car would be along so he could go home."

"I told him there would be one along right away and continued on my beat. He was alone and I supposed he got on the car and went home. It was around 9:30 that the boys said they went to his house and got him. I never saw him after 8 o'clock when those were the only words spoken between us. I never saw him again until in the morning when he lay dead in the grass."

WHISKEY BANDITS ROB REHM HOME AND ABANDON CARGO

where a culvert was being built, and where it almost tipped over. Members of the Birdsall gang, who approached about 11 o'clock by the men in charge and the crew went to the truck about a half mile away from the road camp, assisting in unloading the liquor. The men made efforts to dig the wheels out of the soft earth were unavailing it was suggested that they unload the cargo.

"Stoves" on the Truck

"There are several heavy stoves on the truck, we had better not unload it," one of the men is reported to have said in answering the suggestion that they unload the cargo. As if to go to the nearby farm where the Birdsall men said they could service the services of the farmer with the truck. The last seat of the truck was when they drove off in a motor car, which accompanied the truck.

There were three men with the car, those who saw them at work said.

Sheriff Wylie and deputies were not able to move the heavy truck which was loaded with liquor. The liquor on lighter truck. The find included 120 cases of bonded whiskey and 30 cases of champagne and gin. The truck had high canvas top and the liquor was packed in three mattresses and several chairs concealing the load from view.

Liquor in Jail

The liquor is in the Walworth county jail, and the truck is in the Elkhorn garage. Sheriff Wylie, who is in charge of the jail, is determined to keep the liquor in the jail, as it carried an Illinois license.

Sheriff Wylie has been furnished with a description of the men who drove and accompanied the cargo. The men it is believed went to Chicago.

According to the stories told by the men of the Elkhorn household the liquor was taken from the basement of the caretaker's house where a strong vault had been constructed by the Chicago owner, who is said to be the largest of one of the biggest liquor distillers in the United States before prohibition. Mr. Rehm is said to have been engaged in looking after the liquor business since the death of his father-in-law.

Detective Employed

Detective Richmond has been employed for several months to investigate the Elkhorn household. Authorities attach significance to this fact—that the liquor was of great value and robbery was believed possible.

Richmond Made No Report

A strange fact concerning the alleged robbery of the Elkhorn household, the Detective Richmond did not report it to the sheriff until after the latter had been notified Sunday by Lake Geneva police, Mr. Elkhorn, who had come to the lake to see an attorney, presumably concerning the incident.

Investigation of the house on the Rehm place from which the liquor was taken, and the road leading directly into the Genoa Junction road where the truck was found, it is near the grounds of the Lake Geneva police.

Blaze, the caretaker is the same man who three years ago was kidnapped when another raid was made on the private stock of Mr. Rehm. The caretaker was killed in the vicinity of Helvon, McHenry county, Illinois.

Who Released Them

The caretaker of the household questioned by authorities said that they were released about 12 o'clock. It was reported by the Birdsall men that the time of the strange men came to their camp for help in extricating the truck was about 11.

American army, and the Plingers were kidnapped.

One Passenger Killed

One foreigner was killed, but his identity was not known. A few of the foreigners escaped by hiding in the long grass but more than 20 were carried off. Mrs. Allen and Miss Winger were taken away when they were unable to keep up.

It is estimated that about 115 passengers were kidnapped, most of them in their night attire and without their baggage. They were forced to walk barefoot over the broken glass and were hustled by brutal guards over the rough country as the bandits fled.

Soldiers arrived at the scene after the departure of the raiding party and the government ordered the Chinese military governor of the neighboring provinces immediately to take up the pursuit.

ROCKEFELLER AT BELLOI

Shanghai—Miss Lucy Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and daughter of the late United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island, is reported to be in a message from Shanghai, to have been released by the bandits, who early Saturday, took her captive with the other passengers on the Shanghai-Peking express train.

The report said all the women captives had been freed, and that Miss McFadden and Miss Coralli were released with Miss Aldrich.

BELLOI GRADUATE

ONE OF THOSE CAPTURED

Washington.—At the war department it was said there was no army officer by the name of Roland who had been reported to have been captured in the Philippines and it was believed possible that mention of such a name in the Chinese cables was due to a confusion in the name of Major Roland W. Pinger of the ordinance department, who is a graduate of the University of California.

Major Robert A. Allen is an officer in the medical corps who was born in Iowa, Ill., and before entering the service was a practicing physician at Tacoma, Wash. He is a graduate of Beloit college and Northwestern university.

When plants growing indoors turn yellow the first fault to look for is poor drainage. Water must run off readily to prevent trouble.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE BEVERLY

Richard Barthelmess and Dorothy Gish make a combination that is a pleasure to watch, and now that they have been seen in "Fury" their co-starring in "The Bright Shaw" is eagerly awaited. "Fury" is now showing at the Beverly.

"Fury" is a picture in which none of the sincerity of life has been sacrificed to make a "spectacle." It moves along at a good tempo, with high points here and there that make it enjoyable. A picture of the sea, and sea-life in port, it has real atmosphere from beginning to end.

The plot is not an unusual one, but here seems different because of the setting. Roy Lichtenstein is a weakling hated even by his father, who in the end tells him to avenge the wrong done his mother. This is a picture to do before he marries, and the pledge creates much trouble when he falls in love with a little girl, who is played by Dorothy Gish. In the end, however, he is made a man and avenges the wrong when he finds his mother.

Richard Barthelmess plays a part here somewhat similar to "Tobacco" which he played in "Fury".

The Penalty and the Penalized.

Thomas Delaney, young man, once looked upon as a coming leader of the state democratic forces and prohibition commissioner of Wisconsin, has taken up his residence at Leavenworth prison for two years.
 What has happened to Delaney may happen to any man who is tempted to step aside from the path of honesty. The men who bribed and corrupted him ought also to have gone with him to prison. They too have been convicted and it is well that this is so. The enormous profits made possible by the men who have conspired to defeat the laws of the government, have been a greater means of corruption than from any source we have ever known in this country. Always on the ragged edge of being criminal and always at law violation long before there was national prohibition the whiskey rings and beer rings have attempted to proceed with the business since the state and federal laws were passed. In doing so it was found easier to corrupt officials than to defy law. Bribery was made a business, and charged up as a part of the cost of operation. It was done in terms of such large figures that men, heretofore incorruptible, fell before the size of the sums offered. Thus fell Delaney just entering upon a career. It takes backbone, inherent and heavily entrenched honesty to escape being either bribed or lied about in the effort to apprehend the rich and affluent bootleggers, backed by millions and making more millions of profit.

Every time they try to unravel the skein of taxation at Madison some one else ties a new knot.

Ford's Millions in Wisconsin.

Henry Ford is worth some $600,000,000, according to the latest reports and is scheduled as the richest man in the world. His automobile company has $150,000,000 in the bank—ready cash, more than many governments of Europe and far more than any other man in the United States could command in a short time. It is a remarkable thing that we have in Wisconsin so many who are ready to denounce all wealth as dangerous, but who however, think Henry Ford is a superman and his wealth is something immune from criticism. Henry has a wise head at least; he does not come to Wisconsin to establish factories, but picks out those states where he may be sure he is not going to pay excessive taxes. In Detroit he is able to have about 35 per cent on his taxes against what he would pay in Wisconsin now and under the new tax bills, the Dahl, Severson or the governor's bill, his taxes would be about 65 per cent more than he has to pay as a resident of Michigan. Mr. Ford's wealth is used in making more money for Ford. You do not hear of any great philanthropies by him nor does one learn that he asks any less of his employees because he is making money faster than any living man in America and perhaps in the world. We would much like to have Ford here in Wisconsin and find how the forces which have succeeded in driving some industries from the state, would fare towards him.

Why does not Germany let Stinnes pay the war bill? He made nearly all of it out of the war. He at least ought to provide food and other necessities for the German nation if it is in need.

The Conviction of Ruthenberg.

Ruthenberg, convicted at St. Joseph, Mich., by a jury under the syndicalism law of that state, has not been acquainted with the interior of prisons. He served a sentence before for writing letters telling others to evade the draft and afterward in Sing Sing for other efforts to defeat the government of the United States in its war work. He served the same purpose and the same cause here at home that a German commander would at the head of troops fighting in the Argonne, with the exception that Ruthenberg ran no risk of being killed.

There is a wrong impression as to what Ruthenberg has done and what the evidence shows, if one reads some newspaper comment on the case. It is not that Ruthenberg is opposed to the United States government and wants the whole structure dismantled but that he has by word of mouth and by many articles, instigated armed revolution—the use of force. His own evidence, the evidence of his writings, produced in court is that he found no way of quickly accomplishing his end other than through armed destruction of

HOME, SWEET HOME.

By FREDERIC J. KASKIN

Washington.—A low, gabled house with wistaria and honeysuckle clambering over its walls, and surrounded by a shady lawn—that was home to John Howard Payne, author of "Home, Sweet Home."

Now the "Home, Sweet Home" house, which still stands on Long Island is to become almost as famous as the song. It is to be reproduced as nearly as possible in this city, and displayed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs as a model home in the national better homes demonstration. As the better homes week occurs early in June, at the same time as the Shriners' convention in Washington, nearly 1,000,000 persons will see this reproduction of the famous house, and, incidentally, it is supposed that they will go away with an ambition to make their own homes more beautiful and inspiring.

The 1923 model home can find no finer style of architecture than the old colonial mansion, of which the "Home, Sweet Home" house is a pure example. The atmosphere of the old house is to be preserved and the design of the exterior faithfully copied.

But, at the same time, everything about the house is to be strictly modern and practical. John Howard Payne's home was built of wood. It had no bath, and a huge fireplace and oven took up one-sixth of the downstairs floor space. The modern version is to be a $19,000 structure of hollow tile and concrete. It is to be fireproof. The home, as it is to be, is to be a model in keeping with the present day importance of fireplaces.

The house is now being built on a park space back of the White House. Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, tossed up the first shovel of earth last Monday, and construction is to be finished in three weeks.

Then the Department of Agriculture is to reproduce the landscape setting of the old Payne homestead. Vines will be trained up and fastened to trellises close to the walls. A group of arbor by the kitchen door will spring up with magic speed. Add grass, shrubbery, and walks will appear.

Like the exterior the interior of the house will be colonial in atmosphere, though modern in construction and arrangement. Comfort and the saving of unnecessary steps are factors that have been especially considered in the plan of the new "Home, Sweet Home."

The national demonstration house of better homes week is to have seven rooms—four bedrooms, a living room, dining room, and kitchen, and a sun parlor and porch. It would accommodate a family of about five. It is somewhat larger than most of the houses used as models in the various cities that celebrated better homes week last year, yet it is to be practically designed and equipped for a family of moderate means.

Whatever the size of the better home, the points stressed are that it should be architecturally sound, well planned and with adequate yard space.

But the house itself is only a small part of a better home. The model home is to display labor saving equipment, furniture, interior decoration features, even a collection of 200 books, and a properly set dinner table.

The Department of Agriculture once showed by test that the housewife in the average home walks 10 miles a day. It was further shown that this distance record could be cut in half if 500 worth of equipment were installed. The better home takes this sort of thing into account, and even insists on such apparent trifles as a kitchen clock with easily read figures and a fixed height for kitchen tables and chairs. It displays appropriate colors of walls and woodwork for different rooms, with careful consideration given to the amount of light in each room and the use to which the room is put.

The following excerpts from the guide to local committees planning better homes demonstrations show the standards back of a modern better home:

"Persons who furnish a house face four distinct problems. First, they must see that the objects suit the house in size, coloring and style; second, that the pieces are harmonious with each other, and that they are comfortable and well made; third, that they suit the requirements of the family; and fourth, that they fit the family purse."

"A good rule to follow in choosing furnishings is to avoid anything which strikes you as elaborate or prominent. If a piece of wallpaper, furniture, carpet, or curtain material stands out in a shop, you may be quite certain that it will be even more noticeable in a house."

"Do not indulge in many ornaments. A few bits of colored pottery, or some brass ware, is all that is required to strike a lively note. Never have a large jar on a small table or stand or small ornaments on a large table. A good thing to remember is that ornaments decrease in value as they increase in number."

Such principles as these are carried out in every detail of the better home demonstration house, and, with a hostess on hand to furnish explanations, the house becomes a source of practical information to every homemaker.

There will be no chance of the national demonstration house lacking visitors during better homes week, as it is to be an information headquarters of the Shrine convention. After that the house, which is the property of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will probably be removed to another, permanent site, and maintained throughout the year as a center for housekeeping demonstrations.

All the year round demonstrations are the ultimate aim of the better homes campaign. A week of concentration on home conditions is high educational but it is now suggested that the public should have further opportunities to learn about building, furnishing, and running a home. The better homes movement has made such progress that this ideal may soon be attained, in some communities at least.

Twenty-eight states officially recognized the better homes week movement last year, and this year a more widespread celebration is planned. The decline of the American home, is a favorite topic of alarmists, but interest displayed in the better homes campaign indicates that the average American is still interested in "Home, Sweet Home" not only sentimentally, but practically as well.

"capitalism," including both property and person.

No man can read the evidence at St. Joseph without being convinced of the danger from such men as Ruthenberg. His revolution had nothing to do with the ballot or with peaceful means. He wants war and death. We shall hear of the injustice of his conviction from others who have read little or care less about the evidence and who will listen to Debs and others to the effect that Ruthenberg is one more martyr to a cause.

Free speech under the constitution has nothing to do with Ruthenberg. He simply advocated that to get rid of certain persons they should be killed as a group. If that can be allowed, the arrest of anyone on a charge of threatening to kill is a violation of free speech.

Samuel Gompers, seeing clearly the trend of such advocacy of elemental methods, has begun a new onslaught against the invidious "Boring from within" group which has followed Foster and Ruthenberg, to save the craft unions from the very destruction which Ruthenberg has advocated for "capitalism."

From the passenger lists the Volstead line of steamships seems to be doing a good business.

JUST FOLKS

HOPE.
 There's hope in a place, however dark,
 There's hope in a prison cell,
 'Twas hope that lightened up Noah's Ark
 'Till the raging waters fell.
 And there's never a breast so bleak and bare
 But the spark of hope is glistering there.

There is hope whatever the place may be,
 There is hope in the darkened room,
 Hope on the storm-tossed angry sea
 And hope at a loved one's tomb.
 And there's never a heart so sorely torn
 But can cherish the hope of a brighter morn.

Hope can shine through a gray stone wall
 And burn as strong as a star
 And hope can answer the faintest call
 And no power can shut it out.
 Though a man be shackled and locked away,
 Hope sings to him a better day.

For hope will follow the will to be,
 And go with the will to do,
 And there's none so low in this world but he
 May fashion his life anew.
 For hope shuns shillies and the darkened day
 'Till the last brave man shall have passed away.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

IN THE SPRING.
 In the spring the old man's fancy
 Lightly turns to garden sass
 And to tulips and roses
 As the wild geese northward pass.

And he broods on solid subjects,
 And is practical withal,
 And he's not a bit of a fool,
 Will defend him until fall.

Let the love-sick youth be foolish,
 That is quite another thing;
 But old guys have no illusions
 In the spring.

Fashion expert tells us green is the favorite color this spring. This is due of the straw-berries we have seen.

It is said there will be fewer June weddings this year than usual. Some of the young couples are getting wise and know they will get more presents if they marry in some other month. June is a tough month in every family with the income tax, graduations, summer trips, and so many friends getting married. Wise couples will shun March, June, September and December.

Who's Who Today

GOV. J. A. O. PREUS.

The appointment of Gov. J. A. Preus of Minnesota to the United States senate, by the late Senator Knute Nelson is generally predicted. Political observers agree that such an appointment, however, will mean a hard fight for the senate post in 1924.

Preus was one of Nelson's close personal friends as well as a former clerk for the veteran legislator. The governor served in a clerical capacity in Nelson's office from 1906 to 1909.

Preus is a native of Wisconsin. He was born in Columbia County, August 28, 1882. He was graduated from Luther College, Decorah, Ia., in 1903 and later was awarded an LL. B. degree at the University of Minnesota.

He left Nelson's office in 1909 to become executive clerk to the governor of Minnesota and a year later became insurance commissioner of the state. He became an auditor and held that office until he ran for the governorship. He became governor in January, 1921.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

May 7, 1883.—The Janesville postoffice paid $9 money orders last week requiring some $1,250.—The spring term of the city schools opened this morning for a term of eight weeks. R. W. Burton is superintendent and only one change has been made in the teaching force. There are now 1,081 children in school, 182 less than last year.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

May 7, 1893.—Matthew Elison, being held for trial for slaying his wife and another woman, will claim insanity.—Mayor Thoroughgood, after being in office three weeks, is enforcing many of the laws which had been broken, one of the main ones being Sunday closing.—Cold weather is making the farmers, whose seed is rotting in the ground.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

May 7, 1903.—Although the measles epidemic is over, absence in schools is still large because of this disease.—Railroads in this section are using a great many men merely for repairs, and there is a scarcity of laborers in the city.—Mrs. F. C. Cook has gone to Washington for a visit.—Miss Carrie Baldwin has been offered a position in the Boston conservatory of music.

TEN YEARS AGO

May 7, 1913.—Nine members of the committee on securing a location for the state fair will be in the city Thursday.—Board of education met last night and raised the maximum pay of teachers, asked for in a petition.—As the city playground festival drew to a close, a petition is now out to provide parks for ball playing for children.

GOD WILL PROVIDE.

Take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you.—Matthew 6:31, 33.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
 Noted Physician and Author

WHAT'S IN A KISS
 ord. Disease is no respecter of caste; contrary to the popular notion who often sneaks where the appearance indicates health.

In order to forestall the confirmed kisser without giving offense, I suggest a little less refrain from talking a kiss, mumble something about just getting over a cold or a sore throat and fearing you may still harbor the germs.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
 Q. Can you be straightened? What is the correct process? (Mrs. C. A.)

A. Answer—Yes, the younger the infant when the treatment is commenced, the more satisfactory the result will be. Club foot is a failure in the complete growth or development of the foot. The surgeon corrects the position of the foot and applies a light plaster of paris splint to retain it in the overcorrected or properly corrected position. This is changed at intervals and the foot gradually corrected more each time.

What rubdown would you suggest for a boy who participates in athletic sports? I have used alcohol and rub made by mixing olive oil with watergreen oil. (P. E.)

A. Answer—Alcohol is sometimes helpful, but it is immaterial what is used to rub with—anything that is not itself irritating and does not cause irritation. The olive oil, or any other neutral or bland oil, with a little camphor or menthol, will be most helpful in all right.

Taking Care of Cancer Patient.
 An taking care of my mother who has a cancer, is there any danger of catching it? (S. L.)

A. Answer—Cancer is not communicable. Ordinary soap and water cleanliness will prevent the risk of catching it. Cancer may occur from any septic discharge.

Coffee Habit.
 I drink six cups of coffee and three cups of tea every day. I am inclined to be nervous. I am 21 years old and go to college. (W. A.)

A. Answer—If you were engaged in vigorous open air work or play or athletics you might get away with all that stimulant, but it seems to me you are overindulging. An excess of coffee may cause nervousness, irritable disposition, or "nervous" tension. Would you eat meat six times a day, or even potato?

ASK US

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing the Gazette, Janesville, Wis., and enclosing a stamped, addressed envelope.)

Q. How much of the coal mined in the United States is consumed by the railroads? A. G. D.

A. The bureau of railway economics says that the railroads use about one-third of the coal output.

Q. In an apartment house kept as dry as the air of New Mexico? D. R. L.

A. The air of the majority of apartments in winter is considered a great deal drier than the climate of Colorado or New Mexico. One authority says that in some heated houses in winter the atmosphere is drier than that of the Sahara desert.

Q. Does the whitewashing of peach trees delay blossoming? P. E. O.

A. It has been observed that thorough whitewashing the trees in fall or winter has a tendency to delay blossoming.

Q. What is the meaning of the expression "the financial paper" or "paper" for silver? (Foreign) 68, Bar Silver (Domestic) 95%. G. B. C.

A. The Bar Silver (Foreign) is the price quoted in New York for silver produced and refined entirely in the United States and has never entered any foreign market. The two quotations are the price of the special act of congress known as the Pittman. Under authority of this act a large amount of silver was sold during the war in Great Britain, India, and China. This silver is now being replaced by purchases by the United States government of purely domestic silver that is American produced and refined. The same act makes it mandatory upon the United States government to pay one dollar per ounce for all such silver offered at the United States mint during the war. This figure has nearly been reached and when such purchases of the United States have been completed the special domestic silver quotation will no doubt be discontinued.

Q. How is yeast foam made? M. P. H.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that it is ordinary uncompress yeast mixed with corn meal and carefully dried.

HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, MAY 7, 1923

Contrary planetary influences mark this day, according to astrology. While Venus, Mars and Saturn are in benefic aspect, Jupiter and Neptune are adverse.

This should be a very favorable day for importers of women's garments, for modistes and milliners.

The quest for beauty, which has been so persistent in recent years, will continue to make waves of a new class, but there will be new stress put upon mental charm, it is foretold.

This should be a very lucky day for theaters and all theatrical interests. It is especially promising to new plays and those who act in them.

All constructive measures should be undertaken at this time for the aspect are most encouraging.

Human contrariness will be manifested in many ways at this time when the spirit of obstinacy will be seen, especially among men who conduct public affairs.

Warning is given that the temptation to gossip and to repeat unkind personal criticisms will be strong under this sway of the stars.

This is not a fortunate day for initiative of any sort, although there will be an urge toward the beginning of new enterprises.

Again honors for a military man and promotions for army officers appear to be foreshadowed.

Under this direction of the stars, new enterprises will be emphasized in all expressions of emotion.

France, Italy and Russia are to be greatly disturbed after the conjunction of Mars and Neptune on May 12. It is prophesied movements of armies and navies are presaged by the stars.

Again sinister signs appear to govern certain foreign relations that mean much to the United States.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have rather a checkered career in which they go through certain changes of fortune. The young will court and marry.

Children born on this day may have eventful lives in which are numerous struggles. Girls should be carefully reared and protected. The aspect promise that romantic love will play a part too prominent in their lives.

FATE IN BALANCE IN STATE SENATE

A variety of amendments will be offered to the Blaine income tax bill when it is referred to the senate calendar. On the acceptance of the amendments to be offered by socialist members will depend the fate of the government's bill.

Blaine Bill Confident

They are asking complete repeal of the personal property offset to the income tax, payment of the tax in one installment and a larger proportion of return to the cities.

Administration senators say they do not intend to vote for the proposed changes offered by the socialists and that they are still confident of enough support to push the bill through in face of the adverse finance committee report.

The largest number of votes opposition senators will concede the administration is 20. The governor said in his special message to the legislature, that to change these features of his bill would mean emasculation.

Section 17 Votes
 Senator Severson, author of the income surtax bill, says unless the line-up changes, he probably will have 17 votes for his bill.

The senator will go before the finance committee and it is thought he will ask to have the measure reported to the floor without recommendation, to be fought out on its merits.

According to an agreement between Senator Severson and Speaker Dahl, the Dahl general income tax bill will remain in committee until which, if it could be considered, "would result certainly in the total and final destruction of the treaty in the necessity of accounting for other in the moral, economic, political and military revenge of Germany."

Penalty Not Hostile Act
 To the German argument that the Ruhr occupation is in violation of the terms Germany signed at Versailles, the note points out that that "obligates Germany not to consider as an act of hostile party any action which would expose the reparations commission had declared her in default." It reiterates the decision of France and Belgium to evacuate the newly occupied territories only as reparation payments are made.

GREAT BRITAIN WILL URGE NEW OFFER

London.—Great Britain will dispatch a note to Germany within 26 hours, expressing disapproval of the latest German reparations proposals and urging Germany to present a more practical and liberal solution of the problem.

Farm Bureau Official Information

CLINTON C. T. A. RECORDS

The Rock county farm herd stepped to the front in the Clinton C. T. A. contest during April. The 29 cows in the herd had an average of 1068 pounds of milk and 10 pounds of fat. What makes the record more remarkable is that the county farm herd is one of the largest in the association. The progress made by Archie Cullen and the herdsmen in building up a quality herd of cattle for the county is not only evident from the production records but also in the appearance. The county farm herd has a lot of top quality cattle and the heifers indicate that even a better herd will be realized in the future. A six year old grade Holstein, owned by J. E. Offordale and Son was the highest for the month with 74.2 pounds of fat from 167 pounds of milk. There were 461 cows tested and 45 produced 40 or more pounds of fat. The report of Arnold W. Schmidt, tester, follows:

ILL BID $305.00

Here's what Junior club work does for Rock county boys and girls. Edith Clark, Rock county club girl, age 11 years, paid $20 for Wayside Sir Ollie Longfield, a yearling Holstein bull at the Green county sale. She was the proudest girl in Green county when her bid won at Menard and topped the sale.

Sir Ollie is due for some great fitting in the hands of his new owners, for few Rock county farmers know how to fit and train an animal for showing as do Edith and Alice Clark.

Two years ago these two farm girls started club work and now own seven head of registered Holsteins and one of the best herd sires in Rock county. The two girls expect to show the new Ollie sire in open competition and it is a safe prediction they will be up at the front selling the ribbons this coming fall.

ANOTHER SKELETON MYSTERY IS BARED

Bones of Man Found in Gravel Pit in Jefferson County.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Jefferson—Jefferson county authorities are confronted with their third skeleton mystery in three years with the finding Thursday of the skeleton of a man in the Whitely gravel pit, on the Hebron road near Port Atkinson. The discovery was made by Charles Fuller, county highway patrolman.

The bones were examined by Dr. J. L. Daniels Saturday. He found the jaw bone broken in two pieces, and the arm bones were broken about three inches above the wrist.

This would support the theory that the man put up a fight and was killed after a fierce struggle.

The disintegration of the bones which, placed together, form practically a complete skeleton, indicates they have lain there several years. No two bones were together. The skull, which is the best preserved of all, contains an excellent set of teeth. The lower jaw is broken in two pieces but all the teeth are set in the jaw, except one.

Man of About 35

Dr. William J. Port Atkinson, and Dr. J. L. Daniels, Jefferson, who inspected the teeth, declare them to be of a man about 35 years old. Recalling the two former mystery cases, those of Miracle Creek and of the Supperburg, authorities believe the man was not a resident of this vicinity. There is no record of any one missing from this vicinity in recent years.

The Whitely gravel pit is on a main highway leading from Chicago, and crosses the Supperburg creek where, last December, another skeleton was found, the identity of which is still unknown. Authorities have advanced the theory that Jefferson county may be the burial ground for Chicago gunmen.

Not Bones of Indian

Little attention was given to the bones until Saturday, as those who found them and first saw them thought them to be those of an Indian, but this is refuted by the fact that the remains of any Indians buried in this region would long ago have crumbled to dust, especially so near the surface and exposed to air. No Indian relics were found with the bones.

Mr. Fuller was working alone in the pit when the skull rolled from the side of the embankment and stopped in front of his feet. The other bones of the skeleton were found by Sheriff T. M. Smith, Jefferson, and others, about a foot under the gravel.

Make a note that a spray of formalin solution is a preventive of corruption.

FOUR FARM MEETINGS CALLED THIS WEEK

Plans for the Farm Bureau membership drive will be outlined at the meeting of the executive committee and the board of directors meeting Tuesday in the court house. The executive committee will meet during the afternoon and the directors during the evening.

The Rock county Holstein Breeders' association will meet Tuesday evening in the office of J. A. Craig, Samson plant. This is the regular May meeting of the association.

Plans for the fall sale and the club project will be discussed. On Saturday the Rock county junior club committee will be called together by Chairman J. A. Craig for a meeting to be held in the court house. Preparations for the delivery day on June 2 will be made at this meeting.

The Rock county first committee, composed of various breed representatives will be called for a meeting Thursday evening in the court house office. Organization of the Rock county show herds will be considered.

Whitewater Eases, Loses Ball Game 9-4, to Milwaukee

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Whitewater — With the game apparently second up until the sixth inning, Whitewater normal school's first baseball team seemed to forget there were some innings to be played and tossed the game to Milwaukee normal school.

The local teachers started fast. In the first frame, M. Schultz opened the music with a two bagger and then Ingalls, former Beloit college star, followed with a four bagger that cleared the sacks of Schultz and Zuehlke. The home team got another chance in the fourth.

Milwaukee made the game interesting in the fourth and fifth, piling up three runs. In the sixth, Fletcher Olson got in a hole and could not get out. The look things comforted him and Sturtevant lifted a groover on the last strike for a two bagger.

Two runs crossed the platter for the Cream City in that frame and the visitors took the lead. Whitewater could not connect after that to any amount nor did they take advantage of the breaks, especially in the sixth frame. In the ninth, Milwaukee launched hits and collected four more runs.

At that, Olson struck out 10 men to Christad's delight, but he gave three more free tickets to first.

Badgers Laced by Illinois, 4-1

Madison — Illinois beat Wisconsin 4 to 1 when the Badgers blew up in the ninth and Illinois scored three runs. Neither team was able to score until the eighth. Vogel singled for Illinois and brought Reetzger home from third, to which he had advanced on a sacrifice and infield out. Wisconsin scored in its half when Reetzger doubled, took third on an error and Tebell sacrificed. In the ninth Kuehl singled for Illinois, then both Happenny and Stewart reached on errors. Illinois scored on a sacrifice fly and Reetzger singled, scoring both Happenny and Stewart. Score:

PURDUE WHIPS PURPLE IN AMUSING GAME, 18-11

Evansville — Three hours and a half of chess, basketball, made interesting by central scenario after the ball and two head-on collisions, resulted in an 18 to 11 victory for Purdue over Northwestern Saturday.

The Beloiters became the lone pitcher, Campbell, held up better than both Palmer and Kibb and the Purple and because Joe Bryant, Northwestern shortstop, seemed determined to give the game away on errors.

HOMER IN FOURTEENTH WINS FOR MINNESOTA

Minneapolis — Minnesota won a 14 inning ball game from Iowa, 4 to 3, in one of the most dramatic finishes a college game has ever had in this territory. Going to bat in the last half of the fourteenth, Friedl, pitching for the Gophers, hit a home run over the center, Felder's head, scoring two men a head of him.

MICHIGAN IS WINNER ON WILD PITCH, 11 TO 10

Ann Arbor — Michigan defeated Notre Dame here Saturday in the tenth inning of a hectic struggle, 11 to 10, when Paley, who pitched earlier on the mound, uncocked a wild pitch, allowing Capt. Greitz to score the winning run. Michigan employed four pitchers.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

JANESVILLE branches out into home talent league baseball next Sunday. Here is an article from the Jefferson County Union of Port Atkinson, printed a year ago, that every follower of sports should study. It is written by someone who signed himself "A Fan." Just as he urged Port to get behind the boys last year, Janesville should back her lads this year.

"Back to normalcy" is the order of the day in every walk of life. In the boom days of '16, '17 and '18 we were all money mad. A thousand or $5,000 meant nothing to us. Give us a winner, forget the price; was the cry. We scored the big cities for players and paid whatever they demanded. A big game was any game. We saw big league baseball in our own back yard. We got our winner, and we paid the price—rather most of it for there was a but or two unpaid, but what good did it do us? Did we have a single one of our local boys to develop his baseball ability? Did we get any real satisfaction out of seeing a lot of Madison and Milwaukee men win our games and then chase home with our money?

"No, I think we are safe in saying the first we had planned turned to dust in our mouths. Baseball is America's national game. It can be and is successful as commercialized, but we have yet to learn of a small town that went in for commercialized baseball and got away with it. Let's recognize and accept our limitations. Let's not like a baby, stretch out 'our hands for the moon. We ought to know by this time that it's made of green cheese, anyway!"

"THE AMERICAN Legion and the Odd Fellows' teams are made up of Port Atkinson's own boys. The teams they are playing against are made up of home boys from Jefferson, Johnson Creek and other nearby towns. These boys are playing ball because they like to play and not because of the envelope they get after the game. They are playing to win—for who has ever seen a Port youngster that is willing to admit Jefferson boys can beat him at anything? And they deserve encouragement and approval for they are giving us baseball as it should be."

"LET'S support them. Let's get back to baseball ideas. These boys of ours may occasionally make plays that wouldn't look well in a White Sox game—neither will we hear of any Eddie Cicotte or Happy Felsch scandals. And we will get a lot more pleasure watching boys that are our boys beat a bunch of boys from Jefferson (that are from Jefferson) than we did watching a bunch of grafters from Milwaukee playing in Jefferson uniform. Let's get back to baseball as it should be."

Diamond Sparkies (By A. P.)

Needing only three weeks play races in major leagues disclose keener competition than in most seasons.—There were only four places in American league in first two in second, one in third, and four tied for fourth and three tied for third in national.—Though they lost to Philadelphia, seasonal and not of season, 5-1 before 55,000 people, Yankees managed to start road trip in first place as both Detroit and Cleveland lost.—By defeating Boston 4-1, Washington became level with Red Sox and enabled Chicago, which won third straight from Detroit, 4-3, and St. Louis, which won from Cleveland, 5-4, to go into four corners for the fourth.—Chicago and Pittsburgh lost ground in national by losing while New York and Boston were idle.—Through its victory over Cubs, 2-0, St. Louis went into tie for third with Pittsburgh, which lost to Cincinnati 8-7.—Brooklyn made motion toward getting out of cellar by downing Philadelphia, 4-1.—Rogers Hornsby, leading major home run hitter last year, made two circuit swats, bringing total to four this season, and Charlie Gribble, pitcher first sack, hit safely, keeping his consecutive record for season clear, having now hit in 19 games.—Jacques Pomeroy, traded to Brooklyn by St. Louis and who said he would not play there Sunday made first appearance with Robins and failed to hit.—Fris Speaker of Indians, because it is Fris Speaker's "day" (sawed Empire Ormsby Wednesday at Detroit, suspended for a spill.—Walter Johnson, grand old finger of Washington, not only pitched five victories Sunday, but drove triple scored winning runs.

Charles B. Brookins, Iowa runner, sets world mark for 225 lb. hurdles in 22 4-10.

Maroon golfers beat Purdue, 12-10, and Illinois golfers beat Michigan, 18-5.

Serena About Serappers—Lost at Havana between Jack Johnson, former world's heavyweight champion, and Walter (Pammy) Lodge of Minnesota, ended without a decision in the fourth round after Lodge had declared one of Johnson's blows to the stomach was fatal.—Sara-Lodge, heavyweight champion of Mexico, knocked out Andres Balsa, Spanish heavyweight champion in the third round of a scheduled fight bout.—Chile-Donner beat one of his opponents, Cancho Villa and Lulline Murray met at Chicago next Friday and Tommy Laughran will meet Harry Grech at the same place.—Chicago Carpenter knocks out Marcel Nilles at Paris (8).

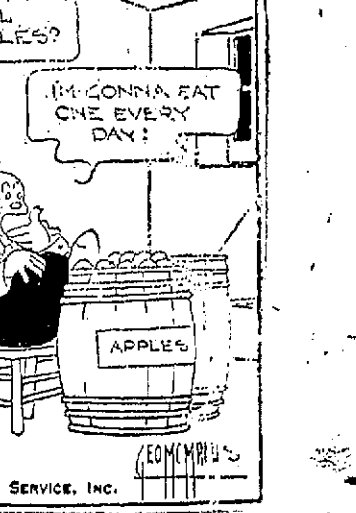

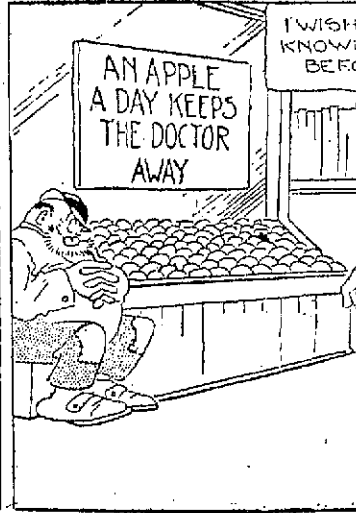

Charles Dean, chairman of national A. A. track and field committee, to referee Big Ten meet, June 1-2.

In seven innings, Homers were made by McNeil and Kretschman, J. Monaghan made two free-base hits and McNeil made two free baggers. Smith also made a two bagger.

Jefferson—Jefferson lost its initial inter-county league U. S. of the season to Lake Mills at the latter place Sunday, by the overwhelming score of 13 to 2. The inability of the Jeffs to hit in the pinches coupled with several errors was the main cause of defeat in the first inning the locals and three more on the patios, and no one out, but Blackett popped to the pitcher and the next two men struck out. The game plainly showed that Jeffs are in need of practice, but with several nights of workouts this week ought to give them the confidence and ability to put over a victory when they meet Waterloo next Sunday.

INDEPENDENCE NEW POLICY OF HARDING

President, Weary of Constant Consultation, Assumes Reins.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington—Warren G. Harding is a changed man. It may have been the cumulative effect of the grinding tasks of the presidency or it may have been his recognition of the fact that with all kinds of advice, he alone must take the initiative and make decisions—but there has been a change from the chief executive's almost timidly awaited advice of party leaders in that Mr. Harding is now making an important move to the president who, tired under the criticism of lack of forcefulness, has declared that he will no longer be guided by the judgment and conscience of others and not as expediency and individualism in congress would wish.

Mr. Harding was put to the test when Secretary of State Hughes came to him with the world court recommendation. "I do not attempt to pass upon the political expediency of this," is what Mr. Hughes is declared to have said in substance, "but here is what I believe American foreign policy should be."

Without consulting Secretary Hughes of the no-league element, or any of the other members of the cabinet who lean toward the "irreconcilable" side of the argument, Mr. Harding transmitted to the senate the recommendation of the secretary of state. He didn't consult Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, chairman of the state foreign relations committee, nor Senator James Watson nor any of the other leaders. He went ahead on his own judgment of what ought to be done.

Independence of Mind

Since that event, Mr. Harding has had this independence of mind brought home to him in a friendly though critical spirit by some of those who feel intimate enough to discuss these matters with him. One man who is said to have been aware of some of the passages in Mr. Harding's speech to the editors a few days before the president went to New York, remarked to Mr. Harding: "He wondered what some of the men in the senate would think of it. At this point the president revealed his impatience with the idea that the man in the white house should be charged with the duty of developing and recommending treaties and protocols for the senate to act upon. He should have to submit his own plan to the party leaders for their advice not on the treaties themselves but the political expediency thereof."

Tired of Being Told

"I'm tired of being told I must consult this man and that man," is in effect what Mr. Harding is quoted as having remarked. "I'm told that if I do this I shall be hurt and if I do that I shall be benefited and so on." On still another occasion, a man who enjoys the confidence of the president, but who occupies a subordinate position in the line of departments, asked the president if it was true that he had not consulted with Secretaries Weeks and Denby or with Postmaster Harry New before he made up his mind to submit his cabinet to the world court proposition. The president replied that it was true and that the first the members of the cabinet knew of it was the exception of Secretary Hughes was when the letter to the senate about the world court was given to the press.

"And why should I consult these men?" the president is reported to have said. "I esteem them highly but I wouldn't be apt to consult the secretary of the navy or the postmaster general on some development in the department of state and I do not see that there is anything unseemly in relying on each cabinet officer of recommendations on matters in his department."

Affects Whole Party

The answer to the foregoing, of course, is that the world court proposal is not simply a department of state affair, but affects the republican party as a whole. If then the cabinet is to render political advice, the president erred in failing to consult his colleagues. To admit that the world court proposal is a political subject is something Mr. Harding doesn't relish. He has felt and feels that the republican party committed itself to the world court in its platforms. He told the editors that at New York. He himself made campaign speeches advocating the world court. In other words, the president had all the political advice he thought necessary—namely, to stick to the republican platform. And he went ahead on that basis and committed himself still further to the fulfillment of those pledges.

Now he would be decidedly eulogistic to say Mr. Harding has removed all the criticism that was heaped for him when he made up his mind for himself and took an independent step on so important a subject as the world court. His actions naturally didn't sit well with certain of the leaders. Senators Lodge and Watson interpreted the president's attitude in the light of his own desires in foreign policy and predicted that reservations would be tacked on by the senate. It is understood that Mr. Lodge didn't show his statement to the white house before issuing the same.

Mr. Two Years in Changing

Mr. Harding's evolution from a member of the senatorial club to a position of independence has been two years in the making. In fact, a situation in which his independence depends entirely on the boldness of some of his opponents inside the party. For his part, he is ready to accept the nomination and would be honored with it, but he has made up his mind not to be pulled and hauled in every direction by those who think his re-election depends on doing what they want done, which is always what the people as a whole want. Mr. Harding is a changed man—a more aggressive, independent and decisive personality. His job, his surroundings and the independence of the senate groups have made him so.

60 EDUCATORS AT MC KEEVER MEET

Sub-Conscious Mind Development Urged—to Give Four Talks Here, Tuesday.

Fifty-nine guests from all parts of southern Wisconsin were in attendance at the McKeever luncheon in the Y. M. C. A. here, Saturday. Supt. Frank O. Holt presided. Music was furnished by the Janesville teachers' double two under the direction of Miss Herdis Hanson, music supervisor. Supt. A. L. Trapp, Whitewater, introduced the speaker.

Dr. McKeever took for his subject, "The Next Big Issue in Education," he defined as being in the domain of propaganda and surrounding education and re-education of the subconscious mind.

"We must recognize that a vast amount of public education is in the hands of organized commercialism and that we are being taught to know how to apply practical psychology through the use of the subconscious mind. We teachers must learn how to correct morals and make the things we teach attractive to the learner by utilizing this same agency."

"The four great enemies of the human race are fear, jealousy, hatred and despair. We must eliminate these things from our subconscious and replace these with courage, tolerance, good-will and serenity." The address was a scholarly and practical discussion peppered with great appreciation by the educators.

Dr. Gordon Talks
Dr. Edgar B. Gordon, chief of the bureau of community development, university extension division, who was associated with Dr. McKeever in a better cities contest in Kansas some years ago, told of the far-reaching results of such a campaign. He also explained briefly the aims of the bureau of which he is chief and the service rendered to the people of this state, urging that no matter how fine Wisconsin's dairy herds or extensive cheese products, the greatest crop is the boys and girls whose education is a failure unless it teaches them how to make a life as well as how to make a living.

Many Visitors Here

Those in attendance from out of town were:
President F. S. Hyer, W. P. Roseman, and W. S. Watson, and Mr. Paul A. Carlson, Whitewater Normal; Supt. A. R. Page, Whitewater; Supt. Frank C. Bray, Misses Myra Williams, Mary and Eliza Spry, Carrie J. Smith, Edna Hunt, Bertha Seward and Mrs. Maybelle Klose, Port Atkinson; Supt. E. D. Denison and Principal T. R. Rowe, Lake Geneva; Principal E. Evans, Misses Amy Perry and Edna Barrett, Mrs. M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Baker, Evansville; Supt. Charles Jahr, Elkhorn; Misses Mabel J. Agnew and Lorraine Beulla, Orfordville; Misses Florence Shackleton and Mae Burke, Milton Junction; W. H. McKel, Madison; Miss Eleanor Weisman, Stoutsville; E. H. Longbottom, Rev. Eldred Charles, Rootville; Miss Florence Conway, Beloit.

4 Addresses Here Tuesday
Dr. McKeever spent Sunday in Elkhorn and Monday in Clinton.

Tuesday will be given to Janesville when the following program will be carried out:

Forenoon—Address Junior and senior high pupils.
Evening—Rotary club, address on "Juvenile Welfare as a Business Enterprise."
8:15 p. m.—Sunday school workers' conference, supper, Methodist church, subject: "How to Make the Sunday School a Dominant Force in Your City."
8:30 p. m.—Community mass meeting, high school auditorium. Subject: "How to Meet the High Cost of Amusement."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

When W. A. Hoyt of Whitewater, wrote a letter to the Voice of the People a few days ago he signed his name to the article. By some manner the name was dropped from the communication as it was made up in the form of the Gazette. The Gazette, therefore, asks that its readers remember Mr. W. A. Hoyt was the author of the article on lease majesty and that officials were not immune to criticism. (Editor Gazette.)

Editor, Gazette:
What is the matter with the street sprinkler since the new city government is in effect? J. E. KING.

The city street department says the flusher is out every day from 5 a. m. to 4 p. m. and has been for several weeks.

New York—Sept Russell Haynes, son of former President Rutherford B. Hayes, died.

10 TO BE GIVEN NURSES' DIPLOMAS

Graduation Exercises Here, Saturday, National Hospital Day.

A class of 10 will be graduated from the nurses training school of Mercy hospital next Saturday night in the new high school auditorium. Those who have finished the course are: Thila Hagstad, Helen Murphy, Blanche Sprout, Ruth Guernsey, Ruth Driver, Anna Frankberger, Lena Framberger, Maude Sherman, Lydia Koch and Sister M. Evangelista.

The feature of the graduation exercises will be a play "Florence Nightingale."

The program follows:
Address, Dean J. P. Ryan.
Conferring diplomas, Jesse Earle, president board of education.
Presentation of pins, Miss Rose K. Golden, R. N. Supt. of School of Nursing.

"Florence Nightingale," play in three acts, students of School of Nursing.

Music, High school band.
The play portrays vividly the career and character of this famous nurse, showing her in her English home, then laboring among the soldiers at the front, and again in London working for legislation to provide for the proper care of the wounded and the prevention of disease in the army.

The play seems appropriate at this time as Saturday is the 103rd anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale. And President Harding, solicitors for the welfare of the ex-service men who are peopling the many hospitals of the country, has designated this as National Hospital day, thereby appealing to the hearts of all Americans to pause and consider the best means to lend their aid that these crippled and sick may have every comfort known to science that a grateful country can bestow. Many beautiful and well-equipped hospitals have been built and placed at the disposal of the Veteran's Bureau for this purpose. The buildings and equipment are no use, however, without capable and willing hands to properly execute the many procedures that will restore health where possible and bring comfort to those who are without hope. The nation must look to the nurses for this, but their numbers are too small to compass the task.
